

THE METROPOLE

22 March 2005

Opinion-Survey Results: Changeover from Cooling to Heating Mode

Q	Respond by choosing and circling “Yes” or “No”, unless a question asks for other details and/or comments.	Yes	No	N/R
01	Were you still using air conditioning during the week beginning 11 October 2004?	29	37	2
02	If you answered “Yes” to Question 01, how many hours per day (on average) were you using air conditioning during the week beginning 11 October 2004?	Average of 15 Hours/Day
03	If you were not using air conditioning during the week beginning 11 October 2004, were you cooling your suite only by keeping your windows open?	29	14	24
04	If you were not using air conditioning during the week beginning 11 October 2004, were you cooling your suite by keeping your windows open and by using a fan or fans to boost the inflow of outdoor air?	4	36	28
05	Did you use your system’s auxiliary heating coil on or before the changeover date (14 October 2004)?	14	52	2
06	If you answered “Yes” to Question 05, how many hours (on average) did you leave your auxiliary heating coil “On” each time you used it?	Average of 5.65 Hours/Day
07	Now that The Metropole has begun the heating season, are you using any heat?	22	42	4
08	Eastern Standard Time begins on the last Sunday of each October. Would this be a reasonable date for The Metropole to begin the heating season?	47	17	4
09	If you answered “No” to Question 08, what date would you prefer?	Average of 16 October
10	Eastern Daylight Time begins on the first Sunday of each April. Would this be a reasonable date for The Metropole to begin the cooling season?	42	22	4
11	If you answered “No” to Question 10, what date would you prefer?	Average of 21 April		